.... Edward Ferrars of Baddesley Clinton, as the manor [Bishops Tachbrook] was said to have been 'lately purchased' from the latter by Timothy Wagstaffe, who died seised thereof in December 1625, leaving a son Thomas, then 10 years old. (fn. 18) Thomas married Mary daughter and coheir of William Combe of Stratford-on-Avon, and their son Sir Combe Wagstaffe died unmarried in 1668, leaving his estates to his cousin (Sir) Thomas. On his death in 1709 the manor passed to his daughter Frances, wife of Sir Edward Bagot of Blithfield, Staffs. (fn. 19) After her first husband's death in 1712 she married Adolphus Oughton (fn. 20) (created a baronet in 1718), and he was lord of the manor in 1719. (fn. 21) The manor then returned to Frances's son Sir Walter Wagstaffe Bagot and his son William, who was created Baron Bagot in 1780. Immediately after his death in 1798 it was sold to George, Earl of Warwick, (fn. 22) with whose representatives it still remains.
